The papers are organized in the following topical sections: application and design of innovative learning software; artificial intelligence and data mining in education; augmented and virtual reality in education; computational thinking in education; design and framework of learning systems; educational data analytics techniques and adaptive learning applications; evaluation, assessment and test; innovative learning in education; mobile learning; new perspectives in education; online course and web-based environment; pedagogies to innovative technologies; social media learning; technologies enhanced language learning; and technology and engineering education.

Soft Actuators Kinji Asaka, Hidenori Okuzaki, 2019-08-28

This book is the second edition of Soft Actuators, originally published in 2014, with 12 chapters added to the first edition. The subject of this new edition is current comprehensive research and development of soft actuators, covering interdisciplinary study of materials science, mechanics, electronics, robotics, and bioscience. The book includes contemporary research of actuators based on biomaterials for their potential in future artificial muscle technology. Readers will find detailed and useful information about materials, methods of synthesis, fabrication, and measurements to study soft actuators. Additionally, the topics of materials, modeling, and applications not only promote the further research and development of soft actuators, but bring benefits for utilization and industrialization. This volume makes generous use of color figures, diagrams, and photographs that provide easy-to-understand descriptions of the mechanisms, apparatus, and motions of soft actuators. Also, in this second edition the chapters on modeling, materials design, and device design have been given a wider scope and made easier to comprehend, which will be helpful in practical applications of soft actuators. Readers of this work can acquire the newest technology and information about basic science and practical applications of flexible, lightweight, and noiseless soft actuators, which differ from conventional mechanical engines and electric motors. This new edition of Soft Actuators will inspire readers with fresh ideas and encourage their research and development, thus opening up a new field of applications for the utilization and industrialization of soft actuators.

Play and Learning in Early Childhood Settings Ingrid Pramling Samuelsson, Marilyn Fleer, 2008-11-14 This book represents the outcome of the joint activities of a group of scholars who were concerned about the lack of international research in play for children from birth to 3 years. The authors are members of the Organisation Mondiale pour ' l'Education Prescolaire' (OMEP). For further information, see <http://www.om-ong.net/>. The idea of carrying out a research project internationally was born at the OMEP's World Congress in Melbourne, Australia 2004. All member countries were invited and 10 countries decided to participate, of which three have withdrawn during the process. The reason for this might be that in these countries only one person was working with the project, while other seven countries have been working in a team of two or more persons. The countries that have carried out research and contributed to this book with a chapter each are Australia, Chile, China, Japan, New Zealand, Sweden and USA (Wisconsin). For more information about the participating countries and their corresponding addresses, see Appendix I. This book project started in Melbourne with a discussion about what is general in early childhood education globally, and what is culturally specific. The discussion was inspired by one of the keynote speakers, Nazhat Shameem (2004), judge in the supreme court in Fiji, when she said: "If we all think we are so different and specific in each culture, the role of human rights has no value anymore." We formulated three questions:

RoboCup 2010: Robot Soccer World Cup XIV Javier Ruiz-del-Solar, Eric Chown, Paul G. Ploeger, 2011-04-09 This book includes the thoroughly refereed post-conference proceedings of the 14th RoboCup International Symposium, held in Singapore, in June, 2010 - representing the scientific tracks structured in four sessions entitled simulation and rescue robots; robot perception and localization; robot motion and humanoid robots; and human robot interaction and semantic scene analysis. The 20 revised full papers and 16 revised short papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 78 submissions. Documenting the research advances of the RoboCup community since the predecessor symposium, this book constitutes a valuable source of reference and inspiration for R&D professionals interested in RoboCup or in robotics and distributed AI more generally.

DNA barcoding: a practical tool for fundamental and applied biodiversity research Zoltan T Nagy, Thierry Backeljau, Marc De Meyer, Kurt Jordaens, 2013-12-30 DNA barcoding has become a well-accepted and popular tool for the identification of species and the detection of cryptic taxonomic diversity. As such, it has a tremendous potential for a wide variety of applications in taxonomy, agronomy, conservation biology, forensics etc. Therefore, several countries, institutions and organizations have launched DNA barcoding projects in the context of the international Consortium for the Barcode of Life (CBOL) initiative. Also Belgium has done so with the establishment of the FWO research community Belgian Network for DNA barcoding. In 2012, this network organized the Third European Conference for the Barcode of Life (ECBOL3) in Brussels. During this event a call was made to publish a collection of papers under the thematic title DNA barcoding: a practical tool for fundamental and applied biodiversity research. With the financial support of the EC project ViBRANT (Virtual Biodiversity Research and Access Network for Taxonomy), 21 papers were bundled to form this special ZooKeys issue with the aim to present various applications, advantages and limitations of DNA barcoding. Hence, it is the editors' hope that this issue provides a modest, but timely, contribution to the already vast literature on DNA barcoding.

13th EAI International Conference on Body Area Networks Chika Sugimoto, Hamed Farhadi, Matti

Hämäläinen,2020-03-03 The papers in this proceeding discuss current and future trends in wearable communications and personal health management through the use of wireless body area networks (WBAN). The authors posit new technologies that can provide trustworthy communications mechanisms from the user to medical health databases. The authors discuss not only on-body devices, but also technologies providing information in-body. Also discussed are dependable communications combined with accurate localization and behavior analysis, which will benefit WBAN technology and make the healthcare processes more effective. The papers were presented at the 13th EAI International Conference on Body Area Networks (BODYNETS 2018), Oulu, Finland, 02-03 October 2018.

Japan Company Handbook ,2001

Mobile Unleashed Don Dingee,2015-12-08 This is the origin story of technology super heroes: the creators and founders of ARM, the company that is responsible for the processors found inside 95% of the world's mobile devices today. This is also the evolution story of how three companies - Apple, Samsung, and Qualcomm - put ARM technology in the hands of billions of people through smartphones, tablets, music players, and more. It was anything but a straight line from idea to success for ARM. The story starts with the triumph of BBC Micro engineers Steve Furber and Sophie Wilson, who make the audacious decision to design their own microprocessor - and it works the first time. The question becomes, how to sell it? Part I follows ARM as its founders launch their own company, select a new leader, a new strategy, and find themselves partnered with Apple, TI, Nokia, and other companies just as digital technology starts to unleash mobile devices. ARM grows rapidly, even as other semiconductor firms struggle in the dot com meltdown, and establishes itself as a standard for embedded RISC processors. Apple aficionados will find the opening of Part II of interest the moment Steve Jobs returns and changes the direction toward fulfilling consumer dreams. Samsung devotees will see how that firm evolved from its earliest days in consumer electronics and semiconductors through a philosophical shift to innovation. Qualcomm followers will learn much of their history as it plays out from satellite communications to development of a mobile phone standard and emergence as a leading fabless semiconductor company. If ARM could be summarized in one word, it would be collaboration. Throughout this story, from Foreword to Epilogue, efforts to develop an ecosystem are highlighted. Familiar names such as Google, Intel, Mediatek, Microsoft, Motorola, TSMC, and others are interwoven throughout. The evolution of ARM's first 25 years as a company wraps up with a shift to its next strategy: the Internet of Things, the ultimate connector for people and devices. Research for this story is extensive, simplifying a complex mobile industry timeline and uncovering critical points where ARM and other companies made fateful and sometimes surprising decisions. Rare photos, summary diagrams and tables, and unique perspectives from insiders add insight to this important telling of technology history.

Reworking the Bench F.L. Holmes, J. Renn, Hans-Jörg Rheinberger, 2006-04-11 This is the first book that addresses the issue of research notes for writing history of science in a comprehensive manner. Its case studies range from the early modern period to present and cover a broad range of different disciplines. The contributions are based on papers presented at the workshop entitled Reworking the Bench: Laboratory Notebooks in the History of Science, held at the Max Planck Institute for the History of Science in Berlin or written after the workshop.

Inked Out Jude Ouvrard, 2018-10-04 Bekka is the woman Tyler has always wanted in his life but when it rains, it pours. Will he be able to handle everything on his own? Young and full of life, Bekka Fleischer and her two best friends are enjoying their newfound freedom. They're sharing their first apartment and getting to experience the night scene while working at one of the biggest clubs in Seattle. The last thing Bekka wanted was to get involved with anyone, let alone a co-worker. But life happens. It doesn't take long for her to notice, and get noticed by, Tyler Wright, her boss. She's attracted to the older man's good looks, and fascinated by his mystery. His special looks and touches draw Bekka into a whirlwind romance. From moving in together to facing parenthood, their new life brings changes and challenges. Bekka will face many ups and downs, but with the support of her man and her friends, she'll remain strong. Everything has a price, however. As Tyler spends more time at home with his new family, things start sliding at The Black Shakers. After all, when the cat's away, the mice will play. Will it be too late for him to handle things on his own? Can the man who would do anything to protect his family hold down the fort, or will he have to declare forfeit to crime and corruption?

Adaptronics and Smart Structures Hartmut Janocha,2013-11-11 Adaptronics is the term encompassing technical fields that have become known internationally under the names smart materials, intelligent structures, and smart structures. Adaptronics contributes to the optimisation of systems and products. It bridges the gap between material and system or product, and incorporates the search for multi-functional materials and elements and their integration in systems or structures. The authors of this book have taken on the task of displaying the current state of the art in this fascinating field. The system components, actuators, sensors and controllers, technical fundamentals, materials, design rules and practical solutions are all described. Selected sample applications are also presented and current development trends are demonstrated.
